

United Action Committee Meeting at Cowley

At Cowley last Thursday a meeting of the committee for United action for the next provincial election nominated provisional officers, and another meeting, of the executive only, is to be held this evening at Cowley.

At last Thursday's meeting it is of interest to note that there were two ex-members of the legislature present, namely, G. E. Cruickshank, Esq. G. Cook and R. Allison and John Kerr, the latter having been nominees for the provincial legislature. In addition there were men of both old line parties who realize that only by unity can effective work be accomplished in freeing the province from Abernethism, and bring a return of sanity to provincial administration.

Ed. Donkin, of Frank, who has been reeve of the village for eight years, and is also well-known as C.P.R. trainmaster on the subdivision from Frank to Crow's Nest, was elected provisional president, and the following vice-presidents were elected: John Kerr, of Passburg; Neil Nicholson, of North Fork; Frank T. Edwards of Pincher Creek; Noel Cox of Lundbreck. The secretary-treasurer elected was E. C. Cosstick of Bellevue.

The enthusiasm of the meeting indicated that a vigorous campaign will be carried on and public meetings will be called as soon as the committee has drawn up the plan of policy on which it will act. The committee is for a change in the administration of provincial affairs, which in the past four years have been nothing but a trail of broken promises and increasing taxation.

CLARESHOLM TENNIS PLAYERS HERE ON SUNDAY

Arrangements are practically completed for the visit of members of Clareholm tennis club to come to the local courts this Sunday. Several good tennis players, especially in the women's division, are members of the Clareholm Club and some good games are expected. To the local members this will be a tune-up before going to Lethbridge to compete in the provincial tournament, which will be held during the middle of this month.

HOW MUCH FOR RELIEF?

The price list of Alberta Liquor Control Board states: "Prices quoted in this list include an assessment for relief purposes." So that's some comfort in paying such a high price for your liquor. Reminds one that once on a time a bottle of John Seagram cost a dollar instead of three. The liquor business is the highest profit producer for the government, yet no taxes are paid by liquor stores to the municipalities in which they are established. In British Columbia it's different; the municipalities get a share of the profits, which is as it should be. But in Alberta the provincial government grabs every cent.

The finest way to meet competition is to turn out a superior product. A beautiful moth was captured by Mrs. Rippon in her garden which measured about three inches between wing tips, and its wings were speckled, with many hues of beautiful colors.

Give the Band Your Support

Proposal That Fraternal Organizations Equip Band by Each Buying Two Uniforms

Coleman town band has given liberally of its services with little reward or even expressions of appreciation. It takes money to buy music, and instruments, besides which there are sundry expenses to be met, which come out of the bandmen's pockets. The general opinion is that Coleman should have a band in which it has pride. No matter how well a band may play, without uniforms it simply doesn't look like a band, and after all, a band must have uniforms if it is to create admiration among the small boys who think the man who beats the big drum is the most important "fellow" in the entire band. What would a circus be without its brightly uniformed band and gleaming instruments?

So by all means, we say, let Coleman have a real band. Bandmaster Beddington, who, by the way, deserves loads of credit for keeping up the enthusiasm of the boys in the face of indifference on the part of the people, has a suggestion well worth acting on. He proposes that each lodge or fraternal organization agree to purchase two uniforms, and by this means sufficient uniforms would be secured to dress the boys up in real style. With little extra effort in putting on a few social affairs, each lodge could raise sufficient to buy a couple of uniforms, and with a grant from the town towards buying music each year, there should be every reason to anticipate that Coleman will turn out a band which will compare most favorably with other bands in the Pass. So, here's a good word for the band, and may they attain their objective.

PAYED ROAD FROM MICHEL TO FERNIE

Announcement has been made by Hon. F. M. McPherson, minister of public works in British Columbia, that sections of highway east of Fernie and Hoamer will be paved this year, and two bridges east of Michel will be eliminated.

The above improvements will complete hard-surfacing from Crows Nest to Fernie and is an added attraction for Alberta Pass motorists who travel in increasing numbers on this highway for an evening's pleasurable driving.

Artificial Ice Campaign Forges Ahead

The campaign for artificial ice is proceeding, this week a letter having been delivered to the secretary of the miners' association setting forth the objective of the provisional committee and asking for the support of the mine workers.

The amount promised by stores and employees is approximately $2500, which it is anticipated will be increased to $3000. It is estimated that at least $6000 will be required from the mine workers to make up the total amount of $15,000 required.

If the total amount cannot be raised in cash it may be necessary for the permanent committee, when appointed, to negotiate a loan. However, sufficient encouragement has been received that the committee feels warranted in aggressively pushing the campaign in order that a decision may be arrived at before the end of this month. If the effort is successful, then steps will be immediately taken towards negotiating for the purchase and installation of the plant for next season's sport.

LOCAL NEWS

Do you know that there is only one other newspaper in Canada published at a higher altitude than The Journal? It is the Crags and Canyon, Banff's weekly newspaper, altitude 4500 feet. Coleman is 4300.

Fred Founds motored to Medicine Hat on Monday to meet his wife and little son, who have spent the past five months in England. They returned on the S.S. Montclair, of the C.P.R. steamships. Mrs. Edgar Thomas of West Coleman, who left Coleman last fall for England, returned on the same liner and Mr. Thomas accompanied Mr. Founds to Medicine Hat to meet her.

Good business and good customer relationships result from Journal advertising. Coleman Cash Grocery has been a consistent advertiser in The Journal since it was established in 1921, and as a result has experienced a steady growth of business with the town's new development, and has maintained a standard of high quality in the goods sold.

With commendable energy a number of young men under the direction of Neil McKinnon and Charlie MacQuarrie started to work on Monday morning, and hammering away as if they were engaged in a friendly competition, they will likely have completed shingling the roof of the United Church by entirely voluntary labor. Those helping in the work included Alister and Wesley MacQuarrie, Junior Dibbles, Ralph Rippon, Edgar Reid, Steve Snider and Owen Jones.

WE HAD A BIRTHDAY

Eighteen years of continuous service is the record of your weekly newspaper in Coleman, of which twelve years has been under the present proprietorship. The proprietor expresses appreciation to advertisers and subscribers who throughout the years have made the publication possible. It is The Journal's aim to serve the community to the utmost limit that revenue will permit, and loyal co-operation is a very important factor in publishing a newspaper in Coleman. July 1 was our birthday anniversary, commemorating twelve years of persistent effort in recording the community news and boosting every worth-while community activity.

WALTER SHORT DIED IN VANCOUVER

Brothers from Coleman, Blairmore and Lethbridge Attend Funeral —Had Served in C. E. F.

A former Lethbridge man, Walter Short, passed away on Sunday in the Shaughnessy hospital, Vancouver.

Deceased enlisted with the 39th Battery in 1914, going overseas with that unit and returning in 1919. He had been in ill-health for some time and removed to the coast a few months ago.

The late Mr. Short first came to Lethbridge in 1911 and was employed for years at the Lethbridge brewery and Campbell, Wilson & Horne before retiring through ill-health two years ago.

Deceased is survived by his widow and two children, of Vancouver, and a brother, Capt. W. H. Short, of the Lethbridge fire department. The latter left for Vancouver on Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Short, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Short and Mr. George Short left on Monday for Vancouver to attend the funeral. They are expected back at the end of this week.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pattinson, accompanied by Mrs. Halliwell, motored to Edmonton over the week-end. Mrs. Pattinson is remaining there for a few days, with her sister Wilma, of the University hospital staff.

Coleman visitors at Waterton during the week-end included Mr. and Mrs. Melville Cornick and son; Mr. and Mrs. Nick Nicholas, and the Misses Lottie, Annie and Emily Nicholas.

S. Janostak, Sr., went to Osogoyos, B.C., last week-end to spend a few days in his fruit ranch, where his son Steve has been working for some months. Osogoyos is a rising center of a prosperous fruit growing district south of Penticton.

THE MAN who waits for someone else to provide him a living should remember that one of Nature's inexorable laws is the survival of the fittest. No social legislation or relief schemes can overcome that. Nature demands, in fact compels, the individual to keep on continually striving to live. Many have the mistaken idea that a living will be provided somehow, by someone, and blame everyone but themselves if they are continually on the borderline of want. Obstacles must be overcome; the man who avoids or dodges them pays the price eventually, though temporarily he may be bolstered up by the efforts of others.

FAIR WAGE SCALE BY PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT

The Social Credit government has issued an order governing rates of pay for male employees. It is fair enough to try and establish a fair wage, for it is unskilled labor that is at the mercy of chiselling employers. Men engaged in regular trades are usually protected by their unions in securing a fair wage. But the order of the government is not of much use unless it is enforced. Fair-minded employers will observe the rules, while "chisellers" will ignore it and pay what might be termed "scalp" wages, making unfair competition with the employer who observes the rules.

Ed. Bernard Appointed Secretary

At a special meeting of the council on Friday, June 23, 43 applications were opened for the position of secretary-treasurer, vacant through the resignation of James Ford through illness, and which office had been carried on for over two years by Miss A. Halliwell as acting secretary.

Heretofore the secretaryships of town and school districts had been held by Mr. Ford at a combined salary of $180. Under the present arrangement Miss Gladys Lees as secretary of the school board receives $85 monthly, and Mr. Bernard $100. Formerly the salaries were apportioned at $105 for school and $75 for town. The new arrangement increases the town secretaryship by $300 a year, while the school district is decreased, $240 a year.

No Change Contemplated States Chairman

Mr. William Fraser, chairman of the school trustees, in order to set rumors at rest, states there is no intention of any change being made in the secretaryship of the board at present held by Miss Gladys Lees.

GROWN IN SUNNY, SOUTHERN ONTARIO

A Declining Industry?

The fact that the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has reported a decrease of $21,000,000 in 1938 in expenditures made in Canada by incoming tourists is something which should give pause for reflection and inquiry, in the hope that this falling off in national income on this account can be discovered and the remedy found.

Tourist traffic in Canada has become a national industry of great importance to the prosperity of the country in the past few years. While in one or two years prior to the depression era higher figures were shown, the revenue to the people of this Dominion from this source has been steadily rising since 1932, reaching a post-depression peak of $284,682,000 in 1937 which, however, is still below the $309,379,000 of the record year of 1929. The following year, 1938, marked a recession of $21,000,000, the first, and it is to be hoped the last, decline since 1932.

What 1939 is to bring forth from this source is still in the lap of the gods, so far as the statisticians are concerned, but there seem to be good reasons why the income lost in 1938 should be picked up and augmented.

Some Helpful Factors

In the first place, the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth drew thousands of Americans across the boundary to Canadian centres in May and June this year and this alone should go far towards balancing the differential between the 1937 and 1938 figures. Just about that time, and since, some improvement in business and economic conditions on both sides of the international boundary are reported, and this, in the ordinary course of events, should mean a material stimulus to this comparatively infant industry in Canada.

In some quarters it has been suggested that the condition of the roads in Canada, and particularly in the west, may have been partially responsible for the recent decline in the number of visitors from the United States, or at least in the amount of money they have spent here.

While there may be some truth in this diagnosis, it does not appear to be the major item in the reduction, since a break down of the figures indicates that the loss occasioned by a reduction in expenditures by tourists who came into Canada in 1938 by automobile is only approximately one million dollars.

While a reduction of one million dollars out of a total of $181,000,000 spent by tourists on wheels from the U.S. in 1937 is not a serious matter, it is a trend in the wrong direction and there is some possibility that road conditions may be partly responsible. Moreover, had the increase from 1936 to 1937 been sustained in 1938, the income from American tourists on the road would have shown an increase of $22,000,000 instead of decline of a million, or sufficient to offset the loss caused by the reduction of those who came in as visitors by boat, rail and aeroplane; in other words, an apparent loss of $23,000,000.

Need Improvement

Roads in Western Canada are not as good as they might be and probably would be if the provincial governments had the money to spend to put them in first class condition. On account of economic conditions they have necessarily been allowed to deteriorate and their condition has not been improved by a substantial increase in the past two or three years of heavy truck traffic.

Before these conditions are likely to be remedied and the highways put in a condition that will make them attractive to visitors from a country where good roads are the rule rather than the exception, it looks as if substantial sums of money will have to be expended and possibly further restrictions imposed on commercial trucks using the highways.

Taking into consideration the financial handicaps under which the provinces are laboring and the fact that the tourist industry is, or should be, a national asset, it would appear to be quite in order to suggest that further assistance might well be given by the federal government to the west to enable the provinces to embark on a more vigorous highway rehabilitation program than is now possible. It would seem conceivable that it would be money well expended and in time would pay dividends not only to the provinces themselves but the country as a whole.

Then, too, it should not be overlooked that such work could be planned and devised to furnish employment and wages for a large number of men now idle and who are now being sustained by the country without any return for their upkeep.

The importance of the tourist industry is well summed up by Claude C. Bonter in a recent issue of "Canadian Business" when he says:

"It may be unequivocally stated that revenues accruing to a country from tourist traffic represent net gains in the country's wealth. They constitute the great invisible balance of trade. Unlike other forms of trade, the tourist industry produces a dollar which is exchanged only for accommodation and services, rather than for exportable material. The country, in other words gains a dollar and loses nothing."

Early Explorers

Finds Indisputable Evidence That

Norsemen Visited Canada

Prof. T. F. McIlwraith of the University of Toronto and the Royal Ontario Museum told the Ontario Historical Association that finds made in the Lake Nipigon district in recent years were indisputable evidence that Canada was visited by Norsemen 1,000 years ago. Prof. McIlwraith told the closing session of the society's convention that a sword, part of a shield handle and an axe-head, turned over to the museum by the Port Arthur man who found them, undoubtedly were of the 10th century.

Tossed A Coin

How Two Scotsmen Decided On Their

Holdings In Quebec

Two hundred years after Jacques Cartier's return to France, two Scotsmen stood on the shores of La Malabar river in Quebec and tossed a coin to determine who would take the east side and who the west side of the domain. Both had served during the conquest under General Murray who granted them crown land at this location.

As a result of the toss, the east side fell to Malcolm Fraser and he named it Mount Murray in honor of his distinguished general. The west side came under the jurisdiction of John Nairne who also honored his general by calling it Murray Bay. It is interesting to note that on Nairne's property is to-day one of Canada's most popular recreation resorts, the historic Manoir Richelieu.

Vegetable Origins

They Come To Us As A Heritage From The Whole World

A few common beans once brought a price of $1,000, although $5,000 would have been paid for them by the famous Burpee. They were for what is now known as the bush lima bean plant, which up to that time had grown as a climber on poles. An article in The Saturday Evening Post gives considerable history of how many of the finest products of the vegetable garden have been discovered.

Few people realize that the vegetable plot, however small, is a heritage from the whole world; corn, beans and squash were first civilized for it by the ancient cliff dwellers of the Southwest; your onions came from Palestine; your asparagus from Siberia; North Europe gave you cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower; the tomatoes came from Peru; your muskmelons from Persia, watermelons from Africa; beets and carrots are native to Europe; your peas came from Egypt and your lettuce from China. It passes understanding how these plant immigrants from so many climes can adapt themselves to a land so different in soil, climate, altitude and altitude as undersea Imperial Valley, sea-level New Jersey, mile-high Colorado, tropical Florida and Northern Ontario.

As the writer concludes: "They don't always do it willingly, and that's why, on the seedmen's farms, the warword is cross, backcross and doublecross."

Risk Of Food Shortage

Urges Britain To Buy Supplies Of Wheat From Canada

Sir Herbert Matthews, member of the Great War food ministry, told the congress of industrial transport that the United Kingdom runs a graver risk of food shortage at the outbreak of another war than in 1914.

The government food defence committee has no food to control and no means of defending it if they possessed it, he charged.

The wartime minister said that if the government were alive to its responsibilities, it would make large purchases of Canadian wheat immediately.

"We have a large capacity for oil," Sir Herbert said, "but in the most vulnerable positions. Like the supplies of wheat, this oil should be spread over the country so that it might be readily available in times of emergency."

"Taking all things into consideration, this country is in a far worse position as regards its food supply than in 1914. The population is much larger, the number of merchant ships is much smaller, the land is in poor, half-starved condition and the number of farm workers has been largely reduced."

Old Moore's Almanac

Prophecy Of What Might Happen In Europe This Fall

Prime Minister Chamberlain advised people who want to know what's going to happen in Europe this fall to look it up in Old Moore's almanac, an annual publication popular in England. Mr. Chamberlain was addressing a Conservative party rally at Cardiff, Wales.

"Old Moore's is as likely to be right as I," he added.

And here is what Old Moore says: "In the first half of September there are signs of much tension in Berlin to be followed by calm in the latter half."

"In October foreign affairs will continue to be of supreme importance inasmuch as Venus is culminating at both Rome and Berlin."

"There is good ground for anticipating that the cause of peace will make further great headway, for conditions are certainly most propitious for a real and lasting understanding on a very wide and comprehensive scale."

Made Transfer Easy

How Wealthy German Got £60,000 In Stocks To England

Where there's a will there's a way. Listen to this story which is going round knowledgeable circles in London of the successful efforts of a wealthy German, now in London, to transfer £60,000 to England by an astute move.

A short time ago a firm of London solicitors received a letter from a German industrialist, asking one of its partners to visit him in Berlin. The expenses of the journey were to be amply defrayed. The solicitor duly arrived and after dinner was asked by the German to look through a number of English stock certificates that he had had before the Nazi regime, under which it was impossible to bring them to England. The London solicitor duly examined the certificates and made a note of them. The German then said: "Will you be so kind as to watch me carefully while I put each of these certificates in the fire?" He did so. Next day the solicitor returned to London, followed a few days later by his client, who did not even bring with him so much as an attache case.

In London, at the German's request, the solicitor filed an affidavit proving the destruction of the stock certificates, and, after the necessary lapse of six months, new certificates were issued. The German thus found himself again in possession of his £60,000 but in London!—Overseas Daily Mail.

The Escort Ships

Glasgow And Southampton Do Not Rank With Battle-Cruisers

The two cruisers that escorted the King and Queen on their return voyage to the Empress of Britain and Splendid, modern vessels, the Southampton and the Glasgow, commissioned in 1933 and 1934, respectively. The cruisers are sister vessels of 9,100 tons with a complement of 700 men. They are armed with 12 6-inch guns and eight 4-inch guns, carry two airplanes and can speed 33 knots an hour. They are oil driven. They are not capital ships and do not rank with battle-cruisers or battleships.

During the Great War a light British cruiser called the Glasgow escaped from the disastrous battle of Coronel with the German Von Spee squadron in which two heavy British cruisers were sunk. The Glasgow joined forces with two British battle-cruisers and at the battle of the Falkland Islands a few weeks later destroyed a German light cruiser. The German squadron was wiped out. The admiralty always will keep the name Glasgow well represented in the British navy.—Toronto Star.

Books Written By Women

Collector Hopes To Have Every Country In World Represented

Grace Thompson Seton, one-time big game hunter and explorer, is using an interlude and her worldwide friendships with women to hunt out books written by women.

Her goal is to complete for the National Council of Women, of which she is chairman of the committee of letters, a collection of books by women in which every country in the world will be represented. The collection will find a place on the shelves of the Bibliotheca Femina and will not only cover the range of women's particular interests but will contain science, sociology, art and travel treatises.

Canada will be well represented in this unique library as Mrs. Seton has a special kinship with the Dominion. She is the former wife of Ernest Thompson Seton, one-time naturalist to the Government of Manitoba. It is likely one of her own works, "A Woman Tenderfoot in the Rockies," will find a place on the shelves of the Bibliotheca Femina.

Her organization for the library has a world-wide base, she said. Every country has its chairman of letters on whom she relies for a selection of its representative women writers.

From the data she has collected, Mrs. Seton says she has discovered that "whereas the position of women in Europe is declining under the totalitarian governments, it is steadily rising in the Orient." Chinese women, particularly, she said, continue to absorb the "eye-opening learning" of the Occident and have come out from the "orchid doors" into the world of business, education and medicine—and now even into the auxiliary army corps.

Long Range Field Gun

U.S. Gun Throws A 100-Pound Shell For 15 Miles

The United States army lifted secrecy from its newest and longest range field gun, a weapon that hurls a 100-pound shell 15 miles. A 155-millimetre calibre gun, bulky but mobile, it fired a projectile in tests at Fort Bragg, N.C., which travelled about 25,000 yards and blew a hole 16 feet in the ground.

The shot was the longest ever fired from a standard American army field gun, Colonel Ralph McNeill, chairman of the Field Artillery Board, reported.

The weapon, developed by the army's own ordnance experts, has been adopted as standard for long range artillery are and an undisclosed number are being turned out now at arsenals.

Describing it in the military periodical, "Army Ordnance," McNeill explained its function was bombardment of enemy reserves, supply dumps and communications far behind wartime lines of battle.

Women In New Guinea Tribe Are

All Beautiful. Beautiful women whose coloring ranges from brick red to almost white, have been found in a strange tribe just discovered in New Guinea. Reports received in Rabaul declare the people of the district live in a state of constant inter-tribal warfare. The women carry the bones of dead relatives about with them in bags of net on their backs. They do not have to work hard, so just have a good time.

Great Britain Will Not Tolerate Seizure Of Danzig By Reich

London.—Prime Minister Chamberlain gave a new warning to the world Sunday night that Great Britain is resolute in its determination to resist aggression.

He spoke a few hours after 20,000 men and women members of Britain's civil defence forces had marched past the King and Queen in Hyde Park.

"We are living in critical and dangerous times," Mr. Chamberlain told the nation in a broadcast speech, appealing for volunteers for the civil defence army which now totals 1,250,000.

"We ourselves are a peaceful nation," the prime minister said. "We desire no quarrels with anyone. But let no one make the mistake of supposing we are not ready to live to the whole strength into the scale if need be to resist aggression, whether against ourselves or against those whose independence we have undertaken to defend."

The prime minister read a message from the King expressing the hope that "nations may learn to live together in fellowship and harmony" but adding these significant words—

"In the meantime we are resolved to leave nothing undone to maintain our country's security."

The weekend passed with Britain attempting by word and deed to impress two facts on the German people: its determination to resist aggression, particularly any attempt to incorporate Danzig in the Reich, and its ever-growing military strength with which it intends to fulfill its commitments to its allies in eastern Europe, notably Poland.

British official circles emphasized the complete unanimity existing among the British, French and Polish governments that any attempt to disturb the status quo in Danzig, whether by an "inside coup" or outright aggression would be resisted by arms.

Mr. Chamberlain began by alluding to the afternoon parade.

"This parade has been something quite new in our history," he said. "For it is the first time that our civil defence forces have been recognized as the fourth arm standing side by side with the auxiliaries of our three fighting forces, as a definite part of the organization of our country's protection."

Great Britain's National Council of Labor, in a message addressed directly to the German people, told them that "neither you nor we must submit to the belief that war is inevitable."

"You Germans and we British and all other peoples must determine to be masters and not slaves of our fates," the message said. "We must not suffer the indignity and sorrow of drifting into a catastrophic war."

After asserting the Reich has "persistently rejected the method of peaceful negotiation in prompting its aims, and has preferred threats, blackmail and acts of violence," the message concluded—

"And now the familiar progress of warlike preparations, lying propaganda and stimulated disturbance is being operated against Poland in respect to Danzig. You must face the fact that if this is continued the result will be war."

It was reported that Britain and France have reinforced their previous pledges to Poland in the face of increasing alarm over Danzig. The two democracies also may give a direct and explicit warning to Germany through diplomatic channels of their determination to stand by Poland if the Nazis attempt to seize Danzig or if the Danzig senate "invites" them to incorporate the Free City in the Reich.

These were the tactics used by Germany when it engulfed Czechoslovakia.

In the long parade which rumbled past their Majesties were tanks and armored cars, anti-aircraft guns, machine gun carriers, motorcycle squads, infantry-carrying trucks—all units in Britain's rapidly expanding mechanized army.

Overhead a barrage of balloons drifted lazily, while the King took the salute of units representing every phase of civil defence work.

No Election Date

Disturbed Conditions In Europe Delays Announcement

Ottawa.—Owing to the disturbed condition in Europe and the Far East, Prime Minister Mackenzie King will come to no early decision on the date of the general election, he said. He wishes to consider the prospects on both these continents carefully before launching Canada into an election campaign.

"At the moment matters are very serious," he said. "We all hope they are going to improve but I would like to take at least a part of the summer to consider both the European and Asiatic situations before launching the campaign."

It was possible, he added, that parliament might have to be called in special session to deal with a crisis as was contemplated last autumn at the time of the Munich affair.

"All things considered," he continued, "I believe much might be gained and nothing would be lost by waiting a few weeks before reaching a decision regarding a general election."

"I want to be perfectly frank about the matter. I don't say we won't have an election and I don't say we will. I want to consider it."

No one could read the recent remarks of Premier Daisler of France about the gravity of the European situation without giving some thought to Canada's position. Coming from a man in Mr. Daisler's position the statement was grave.

A number of domestic matters were awaiting the government's decision and should be cleared up also before a decision was reached about an election. These included establishment of the defence purchasing board provided for in an act passed at the recent session. The government was considering possible appointments to the board.

Put On Probation

Main Accused Of Firing On Royalty Will Be Deported

London.—A 45-year-old steel worker, Lodewig Vincent Lawlor, accused of firing shots near two members of the royal family, pleaded guilty to charges of possessing a firearm with intent to damage property and was put on probation for 12 months, on condition that he return to his native New Zealand.

He was pictured in police testimony as having been a patient in mental institutions after becoming mentally unbalanced in 1932.

Lawlor was arrested June 6 for firing a shot near the Duchess of Kent and later was accused of firing a shot into the home of the Princess Royal.

Government To Make Inquiry Into Deaths Of Missionaries

Ottawa.—The external affairs department of the Canadian government is "making inquiries" into the death of Rev. A. A. Caswell, Canadian missionary, and his wife when Japanese airmen bombed their mission post at Changtong, Hunan province, China, it was announced.

External affairs officials said that when a report has been made the government will consider whether steps should be taken to convey a formal protest to the Japanese government.

For Bata Shoe Plant

Government May Admit A Limited Number Of Technicians

Ottawa.—The government has decided to admit to Canada a limited number of technicians necessary to the opening of a Bata Shoe company plant in Ontario, provided that the department of labor certifies that labor skilled in a similar manner is not available in Canada, it was learned from the department of mines and resources.

The number of skilled workmen to be admitted from Czechoslovakia, where the parent plant of the Bata company is located, has not been stipulated, but will be kept to a reasonable minimum, it is understood, the number possibly increasing as the proposed Ontario factory increases its staff.

Applications for admission of such key men for the Bata plant will be handled in routine fashion through the immigration branch.

The company proposes to employ a considerable number of Canadian workmen but claims a small number of key men are necessary who are already trained in the Bata system.

Several Jewish Refugees Are Shot At Silesian Frontier

Warsaw.—A group of Jews chased across the Polish border from Germany brought with them the bodies of several killed by shots at the Silesian frontier, a Jewish relief official said.

Professor Moisi Schorr, president of the union of Jewish organizations caring for Jewish refugees in Poland, said he was informed a group of 110 Jews brought the bodies, but he was unable to establish whether the fugitives were slain by German police in a mass expulsion or by Polish guards defending the frontier.

Empire Planes

Great Britain's Plan To Build Empire Air Lines

London.—A crisp-spoken government officer told of Great Britain's scheme to make the aeroplane, Europe's most talked-of instrument of rearmament, a means to bind closer together the English-speaking world.

To Sir Kingsley Wood, air minister, the man who created the one-shilling telephone call to any part of the British Isles, falls the job of spending more than £200,000,000 (almost $1,000,000,000) a year on aviation.

But he seems more concerned with the commercial aspects of flying than with the military. Already constructed are flying boats of 72,000 pounds. Under construction are a land plane of 71,000 and a smaller one of 43,000, all designed for use on routes to help link the Empire and English-speaking people.

Empire planes now fly routes totaling 70,000 miles. They link the southernmost tip of Africa and Australia with London. They serve intra-dominion traffic. Projected are North and South Atlantic lines, a trans-Pacific line from Vancouver to Auckland, New Zealand, and a route curving southward around the west coast of Africa supplementing the inland route.

By autumn, an Australia-to-New Zealand air service will be in operation.

Defence For Australia

Dominion Is Preparing To Meet Any Sudden Attack

On the theory that Australia must be prepared to meet a sudden, concentrated attack if war comes, without immediate aid from the north, the government is leaving nothing undone to guard against the danger of a "knockout" blow.

Already provision has been made for the expenditure of £70,000,000 ($327,000,000) on defence for the three years ending June, 1941. This year alone Australia will spend approximately £26,000,000 at the rate of about £50 a minute. This outlay represents more than £2 per head against £8 per capita in the United Kingdom and is the highest of all the dominions.

During the next three years the navy expenditure will amount to more than £21,000,000, the army's expansion will account for about £20,000,000 and the air force £17,000,000. Expenditure on plant construction, munitions and other outlays will boost the total in excess of £70,000,000.

An Apt Pupil

Ottawa Man Learns To Operate Airplane Between Dawn And Dusk

Ottawa.—Saxon Cole, 26-year-old department of agriculture worker, can fly an aeroplane but he doesn't know a thing about it when he got out of bed one morning recently.

Cole learned to fly between dawn and dusk, the first time the feat has been accomplished in Canada in the memory of government civil aviation officials.

A flight with a friend decided Cole there was something to flying. He joined the Ottawa Flying Club and reported to instructor William Nixon at 7 a.m. In 15 minutes they were in the air in a dual-controlled light monoplane. After 5½ hours of instruction, with time out for lunch and dinner, instructor Nixon nodded approvingly and sent Cole up alone.

It was 9 p.m. and dusk was falling as Cole went aloft for his first solo flight.

Fate Of Hong Kong

Says Question Of Tientsin Or Shanghai Is Merely A Prelude

London.—During the September crisis last year over Czechoslovakia, Hong Kong received more news from German agencies than from British sources, the Empire Press Union was told.

J. Chen, of Hong Kong, warned the delegates that "in Hong Kong" we feel that the question of Tientsin or Shanghai is merely the prelude to similar attacks on Hong Kong, now one of the most important outposts of the British empire.

He added that "if any substantial concessions are made to the Japanese then inevitably the next push will be against the rights of the press in such a typically British colony as Hong Kong itself."

London.—The British commonwealth needs its own propaganda in the "battle of ideas" now going on among nations, and this should take the form of "education, not of deception," Vincent Massey, Canada's high commissioner in London, told the Empire Press Union here.

The propaganda should consist neither of over-statement nor understatement but should be "simply statement," Mr. Massey told the press delegates during discussion of "interchange within the Empire of news and views of general imperial interest with particular reference to foreign affairs."

"There is a battle of ideas in the world today," Mr. Massey said. "Some people are impervious to those who hold but there are others who may still be converted."

"If we win, the battle of ideas we should do much to avert another form of conflict."

Mr. Massey analysed propaganda disseminated by the totalitarian states and said one part of it consisted of furious abusive diatribe "to which we are all becoming increasingly hardened and increasingly indifferent."

"If we notice these symptoms of indifference in ourselves we may be justified in guessing that some of the same symptoms may be found among the public within these totalitarian countries."

Mr. Massey referred to the second method of totalitarian countries which had a more potent effect and more powerful influence through distorting the perspective and coloring the background against which the news of the day was presented.

He suggested that there is no doubt this method is largely responsible for the misunderstanding of British policy and British aims which "genuinely exists among the peoples of these countries."

"The propaganda to which they are exposed appeals to no reason but to unconscious factors at work in the people's minds. They are influenced without their realizing they are being influenced."

Mr. Massey said that the educational propaganda he suggested "must have consistent objects in view and it must not be haphazard and unplanned. It is therefore essential that every facility should be given the press for pursuing this work of education. Both the public in the British countries and the world outside must know not only of our achievements in political liberty and the strides we have made in social progress but of the ideals which the British peoples are striving to realize."

"And while I would not have the press alone to forget the danger to which our British heritage is exposed, in these difficult times, I believe that it can do much to lighten and inspire us by reminding us of the strength, diversity and extent of our resources, both spiritual and material."

Marketing Conference

Committee To Meet In Saskatchewan At An Early Date

Calgary.—Alberta members of the western marketing and readjustment committee met here to discuss plans for a full committee conference to be held in Saskatchewan in about a fortnight, said C. B. Davidson of Winnipeg, committee secretary.

Mr. Davidson said he expected to Regise up to get views of the Saskatchewan members. The conference will be held either in Regina or Saskatoon, he said.

Among the 15 to 20 members and non-members who participated in the discussions were L. W. Brockington, D. C. McKenzie and Mr. Davidson, all of Winnipeg.

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation Receives Award In New York

New York.—The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation was awarded a certificate of merit by the National Federation of Press Women for "valuing to the world-wide alliance the radio series most effectively promoting international peace—The Salute of Nations," sponsored by the New York world fair."

Major W. Gladstone Murray, general manager of the CBC, accepted the award at the annual dinner of the press women. Certificate was also awarded to other major broadcasting companies which relayed the program and to Dr. John S. Young, who conceived the series.

Moisture Conditions In Western Provinces Give Hope Of Big Crop

Winnipeg.—Western Canada's wheat harvest may be late this year but it may be comparable with the big crop years of 1928 and 1932 if present conditions are maintained.

Moisture conditions are the best in more than a decade in practically every district of the prairie wheat belt, the grasshopper menace has been held in check by wet weather, and warm weather to mature the fast-growing grain is spreading across the west after record rainfall.

The need to-day is warm weather; that is the report coming from all provinces including the major drought lands of Saskatchewan where ditches are water-filled and roads muddy for the first time in years.

Farmers talk of a big crop year, remembering the 400,000,000-bushel yield of 1932 and the record returns of 1928 when 500,000,000 bushels of wheat were harvested on the prairies.

Preparations for handling a large crop are under way, promising increased employment for farm hands and for industrial workers in urban centres who supply the equipment necessary for the renovation of country elevators, scores of which will be re-opened after long disuse during the poor harvest years.

There is a smaller percentage of the crop advanced to the shot blade stage than at this time in 1938 but with warm weather rapid growth will follow though harvesting may be later than a year ago. Wheat averages from 13 to 21 inches in height, Manitoba fields, where the crop is much further advanced than in Saskatchewan and Alberta, reporting the highest grain.

Comparatively negligible damage by grasshoppers, culprits of rust all have contributed to the bright prospects.

Rust does not offer the same menace as in other years. A great percentage of the west's 24,000,000 acres of wheatlands are growing rust-resistant grain, a protection against attacks that have cost western agriculturists millions of dollars in recent years.

NOTES AND COMMENTSINJUSTICES OF APPOINTING JUSTICES OF THE PEACE

The July number of The Reader's Digest has a very pertinent article on the appointment of Justices of the Peace, who are appointed in the United States in much the same manner as in Canada. It points out that the appointment of men totally unfitted by education and legal experience, not only leads to injustices, but also is the cause of much graft, whereby unscrupulous J.P.'s may connive with unscrupulous law enforcement officers, and defendants are fined unmercifully, not in order to satisfy the ends of justice, but in order that the Justice of the Peace may be sure of getting his costs. The administration of justice should be above such criticism, but under the system in vogue of appointments being made through political preferment, with no regard for qualifications for the office, there is bound to be much adverse comment, besides which respect for the administration of justice is lessened.

A most flagrant case once witnessed by the writer was that of a man fined under the Master and Servant Act. The man had been so badly treated by his employer, in not having sufficient food provided as a farm laborer, that he quit. The man pleaded his case as best he could, without the aid of a lawyer. After going into a huddle the local Justice of the peace where the case was tried fined the fellow more than he had earned in a month, adding his own costs. It is instances such as this (and this is not an isolated case) which emphasize the necessity of appointments being made on the basis of qualifications rather than for being a supporter of the political party in power.

Though there are many justices performing a useful service fairly and impartially, yet there are evils under the present system, particularly when one recalls that since the present provincial government came into power, certain well-known police magistrates were compelled to resign—not because of non-fulfillment of all the requirements of their duties, but because they were not supporters of the government. Incidents such as these create lack of respect for justices who may be appointed on the basis of political preferment.

After a somewhat harrowing couple of days following a session with the dentist, we took a couple of slugs of rum to see if we could induce a more amiable frame of mind. We began to think of all the wonderful cures prescribed by quacks of various types, from the pill vendor on the soap box to the leader of the New Democracy, with lesser lights thrown in. We came to the conclusion in reasonable frame of mind that after all if people were so foolish as to be beguiled by these zoothasyers, then they must take the consequences.

We also arrived at the conclusion that after a newspaper editor has been in town for a few years he should move on to pastures new, like the clergymen or the Salvation Army officers. When you first arrive on the scene of new adventures you are hailed as a good fellow, and told to give the rebels whoever they might be particular hell. Of course, these effusions are always taken by the experienced with a few grains of salt, in fact many grains, for nine times out of ten these effusive individuals will be the ones to stick a knife in your back as you upset their applecart.

However, we are told not to weary in well-doing. We know full well that we'll never become rich, even to a moderate extent, in running a newspaper in Coleman; that the best we can look for is a living the same as the rest of the working-people, for there are so many "chissellers" in our line of business who have to be contended with that life isn't the snap that some outside of the business fancy it is. Fair competition can be met, but "scabbing" and dirty work are a little more difficult to combat. But we enjoy a fight, having had to battle for a living the same as the majority of people here have had to since school days ended and life's earnest began. (Here we'll have to take another drink so that we will not lose our amiable frame of mind). It may shock some of our temperance friends, but better be honest than hypocritical.

Down at Cowley Thursday night the men who were supposed to have doctrine of Abernethy stepped up a few notches in their organization. Unfortunately we were under the weather so couldn't attend. However, we hope to be there this evening to help along the good work, for we are thoroughly convinced that if the people of Alberta are not to be hoodwinked by this abominable mixture of religion and politics for a few more years, we have all got to do our part to remove it. If Labor and those of the old line parties can forget their party tags and unite for political action, it should be a walk-over, for in this predominantly Labor constituency of Rocky Mountain, which has been merged with Pincher Creek, there is a general desire for Unity to set up something more reliable than our present setup at Edmonton. Of course a platform will have to be formulated, but it certainly will not be based on $25 a month for all, interest free loans and other wildcat promises, not to mention the increased taxation with which we all have been burdened, even to the bank cheques you issue, to make up for the outrageous taxes Aberhart imposed on the banks. Whenever taxes are imposed, it is the humble consumer who pays, despite all the bombast of Aberhart going after the "Big Shots."

Saturday last, Dominion Day, was our birthday and the twelfth anniversary of our arrival in Coleman to pilot the destinies of this family journal. We were then on the crest of the post-war prosperity era, and everything went fine for a couple of years. We had visions of erecting a palatial brick block and the latest machinery to replace the pile of junk we purchased to print a weekly newspaper. But the turn of circumstances ruled otherwise, for, as everyone knows, something happened which sent roseate dreams a-glimmering. They say you shouldn't look backward; look to the future. We have been doing that for twelve years in Coleman, and have seen a steady improvement since the coal companies were able to provide steadier employment during the past seven years, from which every retail business has benefited as well as the workers. And how has this improvement come about? Not from cocked theories of A. plus B and the "Just Price," but from actual production of wealth in the form of coal. To produce wealth and a living above the margin of a mere existence requires the co-operation of labor and capital. When they war against each other, both sides are losers. Every business man in the Crows Nest Pass, as well as the workers, realize that the sole source of wealth here is coal production. Remember that when you are shipping goods from outside points. By all means help that which helps you to earn a living.

We haven't a theme song to tack on to this, except to add a word that "Old King Cole is a Merry Old Soul" as far as the Crows Nest Pass is concerned; but we need wider markets and less imported coal in Eastern Canada.

We received a letter from a reader which we regard as some compensation for his honest opinion. It had nothing to do with politics or anything of a controversial nature, and it came as a ray of sunshine from one who had recently undergone the most trying experience that one can be called on to endure. It made us realize that human kindness is still uppermost even when misfortune strikes hardest, and to the writer, who desires to remain anonymous, we can only in return sincerely say "Thank You." May the silver lining of the cloud which has passed over this reader's heart shine more brightly than ever as the days pass on.

DIRECT TAX PROPOSED TO PAY RAILWAY DEFICITS

Manitoba weekly newspaper publishers at a convention in the Fort Garry Hotel, Winnipeg, passed the following resolution:

"Whereas the people of Canada are annually called upon to pay millions of dollars to take care of the deficits incurred by the Canadian National Railways. And whereas these deficits are paid for out of the General Revenues of the Dominion.

"Therefore be it resolved, that the Manitoba Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers, meeting in annual convention at the Fort Garry Hotel, Winnipeg, requests that these annual deficits be taken care of by way of a direct tax so that the cost of the present method of operation may be brought more forcibly to the attention of the Taxpayers of Canada."

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Alexander, who were married recently at Nobleford, will make their home here, having arrived this week. Mr. Alexander will be employed as mechanic in the garage of Sentinel Motors, owned by his brother.

Alywin Haysom to Open Drug Store

Formerly occupied by Burpee Steeves, the drug store this week is being taken over by Alywin Haysom, who was graduated this year from the College of Pharmacy of the University of Alberta. The place is being renovated this week, and it is expected will be ready for opening during the coming week.

Further announcement will be made of the opening date. Watch for it.

ST. ALBAN'S CHURCH

Rev. J. R. Hague, A.Th., Incumbent
 Trinity V-7 p.m., Evensong and Sermon; Parish Meeting after the Service.

Read St. Matt. 25:31-46.
 We all tend to shy off from the suffering of men. We don't like to hear about it, much less see it.

Christ would teach us that the suffering of men is somehow God suffering: that if we stand aloof from the world's pain, we separate ourselves from God, and so from eternal life.

Where may I find God? Wherever there is human need.
 A man, sent to meet a stranger coming on a train, asked, "How shall I know him?" The reply was, "Look out for a man who is helping somebody."
 "How shall I know a Christian?" Look out for someone who is helping another.—Exch.

NEW SALVATION ARMY OFFICERS

Captain F. Watson and Lieutenant R. Waddell have been appointed to take over the work of the Salvation Army in the Pass town, succeeding Captain and Mrs. Fred Hewitt, who have been transferred to Calgary. Coleman will welcome the new officers and trust that their efforts here to promote the Army's work will meet with a generous response.

Both officers come here from the Salvation Army training college in Toronto. Captain Hewitt had been here for about eighteen months, and Mrs. Hewitt came here as a bride on July 1 of last year. Their Coleman friends join in wishing them well in their new sphere in the world-wide work of the Army.

Miss Mary Burtnik, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Burtnik, was married in the Roman Catholic church at Lethbridge on Thursday last to Mr. Dino Fidenato of Maple Leaf. They will reside in Coleman, with the good wishes of their many young friends.

WEDDINGS

Fidenato-Burtnik

St. Patrick's church, Lethbridge, was the scene of a pretty wedding on June 29, when Miss Mary Burtnik, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Burtnik, of Coleman, became the bride of Mr. Dino Fidenato, only son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Fidenato, of Bellevue.

The bride looked charming in a white and mauve sheer dress with white accessories and carrying a bouquet of sweetheart roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Pearl Burtnik, sister of the bride, looked charming in a mauve sheer model with white accessories. She wore a corsage of tea roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Jack Mitchell, of Coleman. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kyle jr, of Coleman, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Mottle, of Bellevue. The happy couple remained in Lethbridge for a short honeymoon. On their return they will remain in Coleman where the groom is employed.

Football Game Here Saturday Evening

Fernie footballers will once again come to Coleman in a scheduled soccer game on Saturday evening the game being expected to start at 6:30. The B.C. eleven have so far defeated the locals three times this season but their domination is expected to cease after Saturday's game. Coleman will field a strong eleven and a good game is assured. Turn out and support your local team.

Unique Ceremony

Sir Shuldham Redfern, knighted by The King On a Railway Train. Sir Shuldham Redfern, of Ottawa, enjoys the unique distinction on this continent of having been invested personally with a knighthood by the King on a railway train.

When King George gave the customary sword taps on the shoulder and said, "Rise, Sir Shuldham," in the royal train somewhere between Truro, N.S., and Halifax, he conferred title distinction on the young secretary to Lord Tweedsmuir, Canada's governor-general.

It was the first time that such an honor had been conferred personally on this side of the Atlantic. It was the first time, so far as known, that such a ceremony ever took place aboard a moving train—or any other train for that matter.

As Sir Shuldham is a citizen of Great Britain, he does not fall under the Canadian ban against titles being accepted.

License To Fish

Visitors To National Parks Must Pay For Privilege Of Fishing.

After April 1, 1940, visitors to several of Canada's western national parks must have a license if they want to fish. Provision for licenses was made in an order-in-council published in the Canada Gazette. Parks affected are Jasper, Banff, Waterton Lakes, Yoho and Kootenay.

Originally it was intended to require the licenses this year but the department of mines and resources, which has jurisdiction over national parks, decided to shelve the proposal for one year because railways, hotels, tourist agencies and other interests had distributed advertising saying no fishing licenses were required this year.

Previously no licenses were required but under the new regulation residents of the province in which the parks are located will be required to have licenses costing $2 a season while to non-residents the cost will be $5 a season or $1 a day.

Glass That Shrinks

Virtually Immune To Cracking From Heat Or Cold

A new kind of glass which shrinks by one-third in size after it has been formed into dishes or other utensils is announced by the Corning Glass Works. The shrinking is done by heating and results in a glass that is virtually immune to cracking from sudden changes of heat or cold. This new glass is made of the same materials used to cast the 200-inch "eye" of the world's greatest telescope at Corning, N.Y., a few years ago.

Community Gardens

Have Proved Success On Indian Reserves Throughout Canada

Community gardens and farms on Indian reserves in Canada are proving successful both from an economic and health viewpoint, according to the Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources. By providing a plentiful supply of vegetables, the community gardens have made possible a more varied diet for the Indians which has resulted in a general improvement in their physical condition.

Community gardens on the reserve have also served to stimulate the interest of the Indians in their individual gardens. In one agency, before the advent of the community garden, 3,000 Indians raised only about 2,000 bushels of vegetables in a year. With the introduction of the community garden 4,500 bushels were produced in the first year and 5,000 bushels of vegetables were grown in the individual gardens of the Indians. Soon the total production of the agency was increased to 20,000 bushels. At first large root cellars were made to store the produce but later the Indians commenced to dig cellars of their own, and the community root houses are now used only for the surplus stores and seed.

The first step in the introduction of community gardens to the Indian reserves is the education of the Indians to the idea. When this has been accomplished the management of the gardens can be entirely the work of the natives. The Chief and Councilors of the tribe act as overseers and appoint suitable Indians as foremen. At the end of the season a committee is formed for the distribution of the crop. A record is kept of the work done by each Indian, and those who do not work do not share in the proceeds.

Community farms so far established are also producing excellent results. The Indians receive food supplies in return for their work on the farm, which help considerably to make them self-supporting.

Budget—and Stay Happy

Back from the honeymoon... to face money worries, lose their new-found happiness? No, the Smiths. They're on a budget, know how to stretch their modest income to get what they want.

Entertaining, good clothes are important to Jim's career—and Sue divides their money to make these things possible. In renting a home she wisely considered the carfare question, chose a charming spot within walking distance of Jim's job, the shopping district—saving many dollars each month.

The food bill Sue will watch carefully, have healthful, tasty meals, too. If oranges are high, tomato juice gives Vitamin C. Cheese dishes as well as meat have valuable proteins.

Other items Sue plans as cleverly—easy then for the Smiths to dress well, to give nice parties, especially as they'll make major purchases such as coats at sales, fix up a game room themselves for inexpensive fun.

Let budgeting solve your own money worries, help you get the most out of life! Our 32-page booklet has a simple budget plan to suit your income. Tells how to buy wisely, keep expenses down, gives ruled pages for a year's accounts.

Interesting Relics Found

May Have Belonged To Officer Who Defended Canada In 1812

A discovery that may have historic importance locally was made at Durn Park by three Hamilton boys who found relics buried by a land-slide that appear to be those of a British officer who fought in the defence of Canada during the war of 1812-14. The find, it is believed, has revealed a burial place previously unknown to historians. Authorities were notified in order that the scene might be guarded against intrusion by souvenir hunters. The boys were out hiking when they found the relics.

Chief among them was a solid silver medal about two and a half inches in circumference, and a silver wristband which may have distinguished a ranking British officer during the war.

The medal, the boys hope, may prove to be of considerable value. It bears the likeness of George III. On one side. On the other is a composite scene showing a church, forest and crags at the foot of which a lion is resting unconcerned while a dog barks at its heels.

The wristband was at first thought to be brass, but burning showed it was of silver and disclosed an engraving of a bear seated beside a tree stump, evidently enjoying a feed of honey from a bee's nest it has found.

In addition to these articles, there was a uniform button and moullet fragments of cloth, some of which retained their red dye after more than 125 years under the soil.

SELECTED RECIPES

QUICK CHOP SUFY

2 lbs. lean pork, diced
2 tablespoons fat
Salt and pepper
1 cup celery chopped
1 green pepper shredded
18 Christie's Soda Wafers
1½ cups meat stock or hot water.
Brown pork quickly in hot fat, frying pan. Season and add vegetables and cook covered over low flame until tender. Add the water occasionally to prevent sticking. Crumble Soda Wafers fine and pour over them the hot stock or water. When meat and vegetables are tender combine with Soda Wafers. Serve hot. Six portions.

JELLIED VEGETABLE RING

1 tablespoon gelatine
¾ cup cold water
¾ cup boiling water
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup chopped celery
¾ cup peas
½ cup shredded cabbage
¾ cup diced cucumber
¾ cup chopped pimiento
Method: Soak gelatine in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve in the boiling water. Add remaining ingredients, mix thoroughly. Turn into ring mould lightly brushed with Mazola. Chill, turn out on large round platter. Surround with cuts of finely sliced meat and halves of hard-boiled eggs. Serve with Holland Dressing. (Six servings).

Lost Painting Recovered

Painted Disappeared From Chicago Columbian Exhibition 46 Years Ago

A painting by Jan Styka, Polish artist, which disappeared while on exhibition at the Chicago Columbian exhibition in 1893, has been found hanging in a church, it was disclosed at Philadelphia.

Until he died 44 years ago, Styka searched for the painting. It bore the title "Queen of Poland Pray For Us." When found the title had been changed to "Our Lady Blessing the World."

The painting was presented to the Catholic church of the Gesù by a parishioner, now dead, who purchased it at an auction.

Last February Edward A. Newnam, art instructor at St. Joseph's college, found the true title inscribed on the painting. He communicated with Styka's son, Tade, a New York portrait painter.

The King and Queen are reported to be in better health than when they arrived in Canada. The Dominion is a healthier place since their visit.

SMARTNESS TO SLENDERIZE YOU

By Anne Adams

Summer entertaining will be something to look forward to... when you have a cool, fashionable new dress like this on hand. You'll find that the lines of Anne Adams' Easy Pattern 4145 give curves a slimmer look for that body that is a little under the rounded, lace-trimmed waist so gracefully soft, while the skirt smooths the hips and flares at hem to a great consideration... note it especially in the ease under the yoke back, and the shaping of the two sleeve versions, one prettily slashed, the other rippling loosely about the elbow! Delicate prints like that sketched—or plaited crepes—will add to the illusion of slimmest.

Pattern 4145 is available in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 38 takes 3½ yards 36 inch fabric and 1½ yards lace. Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly: Name, Address and Style Number and send order to: Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg, Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg.

New Machine Created Speech Out Of Roar Of An Airplane

Engineers from the motion picture studios in Hollywood listened to a strange new machine which created speech out of the roar of an airplane and out of the puffing of a locomotive.

The voice of a baritone was converted into that of a soprano, and that of a single crooner came out of the loud-speaker as a trio.

Some day soon the machine may be put to practical use in the movies, suggested Homer Dudley, Bell Telephone Company Engineer and one of the originators of the electrical instrument.

It may provide the voices for animal cartoons, may even give Donald Duck's irritated speech new screen appeal.

It was the first public demonstration of the machine, named the vocoder, and the first time such a laboratory model—rather than a completed product—has been presented to technicians for suggestions as to its use.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JULY 9

JEROBOAM: A MAN WITH A GREAT OPPORTUNITY

Golden text: In all thy ways acknowledge him. And he will direct thy path. Proverbs 3:6.

Lesson: 1. Kings 11:26-43. Devotional reading: Proverbs 4:1-9.

Explanations And Comments

Jeroboam's Rise to Power, 1. Kings 11:26-28. Jeroboam, a young man of the Northern Tribe of Ephraim, was among the subjects of Solomon when he was forced labor in adorning Jerusalem. Solomon's capital, Hebron, was a "mighty man of valor" and his efficiency and made him overruler from the house of David. "Tribes of Ephraim and Manasse"—a position which enabled Jeroboam to "up his fellow laborers' jealousy of the Southern Tribes and their hatred of Solomon, the oppressor."

1. Kings 11:28-33. One day as Jeroboam was leaving Jerusalem, intent on thinking, no doubt, of his ambition for power, he met the prophet Ahijah. Taking Jeroboam aside into a field where they would be alone, Ahijah took both the outer garment he was wearing and tore it into 12 pieces, 10 of which he handed to Jeroboam saying: "Behold, thou shalt be ruler over 10 of the tribes. It was customary in those days to emphasize important communications by symbolic action. Compare 1. Kings 22:11; Isaiah 20; Jeremiah 19:1-12; Ezekiel 12; Zechariah 11:3-4.

The Condition to Be Fulfilled, 1. Kings 11:37-38. Ahijah repeated the promise that Jeroboam should be king over Israel. There was, however, a condition to be fulfilled. He would have a "sure house," or long line of descendants upon the throne of Israel, provided he hearkened unto David's commands and kept them as David had done. The condition was not fulfilled, and his house came to an end in the second generation. Jeroboam's Flight, 1. Kings 11:40-43. Jeroboam grasped the promise of coming power but was unwilling to wait. He planned a revolution. Solomon learned of this and sought to kill him, but Jeroboam escaped to the King of Egypt and remained there until the death of Solomon.

Good Pasturage

Fresh Grass With Sugar Is A Fine Dish For Humans!

"Can man eat grass?" Mr. J. R. Branson, a retired officer and farmer, has been experimenting. "Surprisingly, you don't mean that you do eat grass?" he was asked in an interview. "I solemnly and seriously do," replied Mr. Branson.

"I'm doing so very well on it that I want other people to know. I have learnt from scientists that grass contains all the most valuable vitamins, especially if you get it when the growth is fresh. When I was horse breeder and dairy farmer I became fully alive to the efficiency of grass as food stuff. For two years grass has been a staple article of my diet. I am using more and more of it as I go on. And the results are gratifying. I have been an athlete all my life—riding, rowing, fishing—but under normal circumstances age puts a stop to that. Well, I'm rising 67 but, although I have not got back all the resiliency of youth, I have more enthusiasm for life than I had as a young man in my prime. I went for a long time without getting the thing this morning, and I have cycled over 80 miles on occasions without getting tired."

"There is another aspect of grass eating too—it reduces the cost of living. I eat it as it is, raw, but, of course, it must be made appetizing. I eat mine with raw carrots, beetroot, and brown sugar, and it goes down very well. My breakfast this morning came off the Balham bowling green. Young grass is rich in chlorophyll—the stuff they sell in tablets these days. I assure you, and scientific experiments confirm my view, that if we could make grass-eating universal, we could produce four or five times as much natural food per acre as we do now by growing wheat. When you think of the number of people starving in the world at the moment, what enormous benefit grass-eating will be to humanity."

"Let me give you one word of warning. Don't rush off and think you can live on grass immediately. You can't do in a moment what I have done in two years. Gently does it. Try some grass in your next salad to begin with."—The Listener (London).

HOME PASTEURIZATION OF MILK

Summer cottagers and residents of the country and small centers, where commercially pasteurized milk is not readily available, are strongly recommended to take precautions to make their milk supply safe. The following directions for home pasteurization will be found useful. They have been prepared by Dr. E. G. Hood, Chief of the Division of Dairy Research of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. The method as outlined employs safe temperatures and requires as usual in large commercial dairies and where pasteurization will give efficient pasteurization.

Equipment—
(1) Aluminum double boiler with cover.
(2) Floating Dairy Thermometer. These thermometers are of glass construction and may be purchased from local hardware supply houses and many hardware stores.

Procedure—

- (1) About half fill the lower portion of the double boiler with water.
- (2) Add the milk to be pasteurized to the upper portion of the boiler. A boiler of 2½ quarts capacity will be required to pasteurize 2 quarts of milk. When larger quantities of milk are to be pasteurized larger boilers must be used.
- (3) Place the thermometer in the milk.
- (4) Heat the double boiler with its contents on the stove or heater and examine the thermometer from time to time until a temperature of 140 degrees F. is reached. At this stage it is well to reduce the heat as the water will be hot enough to bring the temperature of the milk up to 145 to 150 degrees. When this temperature is reached the boiler must be regulated to maintain it for 30 minutes. It is well to give the milk a vigorous stir each time the thermometer is examined.
- (5) After heating for the required length of time the milk should be immediately covered and cooled in a refrigerator or a bowl of cold water. In the summer months a mixture of ice and water will be found necessary to properly cool the milk.
- (6) Place the boiler containing the milk in a refrigerator or a cold cellar and keep there until used. The milk should give the telltale 24 hours for infant feeding and within 48 hours for adults.
- (7) After milk should be fresh at the time of pasteurization and all containers and equipment containing milk in refrigeration should be kept scrupulously clean. This may be accomplished by first washing in cold water, then hot water, and finally scalding. All vessels should be thoroughly dried over the stove and never be made of a cloth.

Wales Wants Farm Workers

Unemployed Men Found Jobs In Various Government Factories

Wales, the country believed to have had the world's greatest unemployment problem ever since the World War, now has a shortage of farm workers. Men who have spent all their working lives on the land have left to find work at better pay in the various Government factories established throughout the principality. Faced with the prospect of reducing their livestock and leaving their land untended, farmers are reported in Cardiff to be considering an appeal to the Ministry of Agriculture to find them men from other districts.

A Super-Airport

Corporation of the City of London has voted £1,100,000 to turn its site at Fairlop, Essex, into a super-airport. Fairlop may some day replace Croydon and Heathrow as chief port of arrival for incoming air liners from the continent. It claims freedom from the fog which clamps down on the other airports at times, crippling traffic.

Speedometers have been devised which record the exact speed of every vehicle passing selected points on a highway.

Special Sales Event

Holyk's Store is putting on a special sales event this week to further bring to the public its policy of business expansion.
Attention is directed to the large display advertisement, which is published in both the Journal and The Bulletin, making an attractive announcement with outstanding sales appeal by means of the Printed Word.

The "cut-pricer" and the "chiseller" digs his own grave eventually, for his only appeal for business is on undercutting wages and other costs. Deal with those who believe in fair wages and square dealing.

BUSINESS ANNOUNCEMENTS

Frank Aboussafy's Store
Third Anniversary
Over three years ago this store was taken over by the present proprietor, who by up-to-date merchandising methods and supplying high quality goods in gents, ladies and children's clothing, has greatly increased the volume of business.

W. Heibner's new electric-powered lawn mower sharpener will give the finest job possible, absolutely true and with edges on the blades that are even better than the new machines.

Steve Bencko's rapidly expanding boot and shoe trade has necessitated the more than doubling his store space, and considerable additions to his stock.

Concert In Ukrainian Hall Friday

Fred Blazenko's pupils of his music classes will give a repeat concert in the Ukrainian hall on Friday evening and this is a musical treat well worth hearing. Encourage the younger folks by your attendance.

Buy from those stores which advertise in The Journal and Bulletin. They are believers in fair prices to their customers and a square deal to the local newspaper in the bargain.
